WARNING: Check the Tightness of Screws Regularly

Important Instructions for Use

The rack is by design, a safe product. Unfortunately, the use, application and operation of the rack system is outside Prorack's control and must therefore be your responsibility. When fitted and used correctly and maintained adequately, this rack provides many years of dependable service.

The following list provides an effective check to ensure all loads are correctly mounted on the rack.

- Check the tightness of the screw attachments regularly, especially after travelling on rough surfaces. Also check attachments after first couple of uses when newly assembled.
- Spread the load evenly across and between the bars.
- Maximum load rating is 75 kg.
- Load should not overhang the sides of the roof rack.
- Ensure all loads are securely fastened. Check regularly during longer journeys.
- A loaded rack system can alter the performance of your vehicle. Be especially aware of the effects of cross-winds, changes in direction and braking performance. Avoid rapid acceleration and deceleration. Drive carefully.
- When carrying long loads, such as canoes or pipes, always use the appropriate accessory and tie the front and back of the load to the "tie-down hooks" supplied with the accessory, to avoid the load being lifted by airflow.
- If the load overhangs the rear of the vehicle, tie a flag at the rear end of the load to improve visibility for the following vehicles.
- On vans and wagons, ensure tailgate opens clear of the rear of load.
- Ensure that instructions in your vehicle owners manual are complied with in the attachment and loading of the rack. If your vehicle owners manual gives a lower permitted roof load rating than that stated in these instructions, then the lower limit is applicable. You must not exceed the load capacity of the vehicle roof.
